Full on-field analysis and smart skill coaching The Season Journey Mode is back and has been upgraded with new tools and features. As well as being able to create new teams and edit existing ones, players can now participate in a new Season Journey with any club or national team. This mode also brings in new player roles for players of any position, including in goalkeeper, which allows more interesting, fluid build-ups and more variations. The Build-Up Phase returns, though with improved visuals, gameplay, artificial intelligence and new roles. Players can play through the build-up phase using a new sprint option, which starts the opponent's ball carrier and allows for faster forward thrusts down the pitch. Additionally, while in build-up mode, players can now perform new, intuitive actions such as sprinting with the ball in pass direction to create more realistic movement and passing options. Examples include; using the FBT to access the X-Factor animation, Wallbanger System to break tackles, and the new FIFA Dynamic Potential movement tool, which allows players to more easily work on their last-ditch tackles. Team Face-Offs return To help create a more realistic team atmosphere, the new Team Face-Off system allows managers and players to challenge their opponents in match-specific challenges in the new Bench Bench section of The Journey Mode. The new "Tag-Ups" system is also returning, which allows opponents to train in specific scenarios and scenarios that match the on-pitch conditions. Match Making Engine. To improve the method of match making, the Match Matching system has been upgraded to reflect current reality. With this feature, players that are not in the Top 100 in Tournaments now have a realistic chance of facing someone they have lost to over the last eight seasons. This system also includes the new option to turn on the new "Slow Play" feature, which allows players to spend more time on the pitch.
